

Evangel Bible Church of Orange County - Irvine CA

Vision America

IFCA International Church Planting

Please Pray:

- That our congregation would be bold to proclaim the gospel
- That our congregation would grow in their love for the Lord
- For wisdom on my behalf considering that I'm a young a pastor
- That the Irvine community would open their eyes from their blindness and apathy.

Evangel Bible Church of Orange County - Irvine CA

Vision America

IFCA International Church Planting

Please Pray:

- That our congregation would be bold to proclaim the gospel
- That our congregation would grow in their love for the Lord
- For wisdom on my behalf considering that I'm a young a pastor
- That the Irvine community would open their eyes from their blindness and apathy.

Located near the University of California Irvine campus, this EBOC ministers primarily to students and middle to upper-middle class families who can generally be characterized as being nominally Christian or apathetic. Many go to church but don't really understand the message of the Gospel, thinking that Christianity is simply about going to church and doing nice things as opposed to believing in the person and work of Jesus Christ for one's redemption.

Others, usually at the UCI campus, show an attitude of apathy. Although they recognize their sinfulness and are willing to listen to the gospel message, they simply don't care. They're either "too busy" with school or work to really think about "trivial" things like eternity. What seems to occupy the minds of this community is a life of comfort and success.

The church was planted (August 2009) in Irvine because many of the church members at Evangel Bible Church in Berkeley, who attended UC Berkeley, would return back to their homes in the Orange County area upon completion of their education. EBCB's Elders thought it would be best to provide a good Bible teaching church for that community using these individuals to start a church near their hometown.

The church initially started as a home church with a team of eight individuals (see picture left). After a couple of months, however, the Lord provided a larger and more accommodating facility for the worship service. Currently there are 35 people in regular attendance.

Located near the University of California Irvine campus, this EBOC ministers primarily to students and middle to upper-middle class families who can generally be characterized as being nominally Christian or apathetic. Many go to church but don't really understand the message of the Gospel, thinking that Christianity is simply about going to church and doing nice things as opposed to believing in the person and work of Jesus Christ for one's redemption.

Others, usually at the UCI campus, show an attitude of apathy. Although they recognize their sinfulness and are willing to listen to the gospel message, they simply don't care. They're either "too busy" with school or work to really think about "trivial" things like eternity. What seems to occupy the minds of this community is a life of comfort and success.

The church was planted (August 2009) in Irvine because many of the church members at Evangel Bible Church in Berkeley, who attended UC Berkeley, would return back to their homes in the Orange County area upon completion of their education. EBCB's Elders thought it would be best to provide a good Bible teaching church for that community using these individuals to start a church near their hometown.

The church initially started as a home church with a team of eight individuals (see picture left). After a couple of months, however, the Lord provided a larger and more accommodating facility for the worship service. Currently there are 35 people in regular attendance.